

About Tomma...

The first-ever winner of the Elysian Player of the Season is Tomma (Mr_acceptable)!

While it was a close call between him and Baguette, he ended up winning the polls by around 5%.

Many players may not have expected this outcome, but it is far from surprising. Tomma has been a core member of Elysian since its beginning, and very few know that he has personally proposed many of the server's new and most iconic features. Realistic Resources? Him. Ore diversification? Him. Realistic Transportation? Him. Along with some other, smaller pro-Roleplay features. On top of this, he has led one of the most powerful nations on the server for multiple seasons, which has crucially shaped the Roleplay Geopolitics of the Server, and now, the poll of the Player of the Season vote.

It is undeniable that Tomma's presence on Elysian has been game-changing. With this, I fully support the outcome of the vote.

By winning the S3 Vote, Tomma is disqualified from running in the S4 Vote.

About S3

"Elysian S3 2025" was a Season that started on 2025 March 8.

It was the Shortest ever Season in the History of Elysian. The Server had to be closed early due to the Owner (Nyseus) having some trouble in real life, which prevented him from focusing his full attention on the server. The Next Season "S4", on the other hand, is planned to be one of the most exciting Seasons in the History of Elysian with many new features never seen before. Better Hardware, more Staff, and as many features as possible.

See you in Season 4! Who will win the EPS Vote in the next season...?
